AHR 2010 ANNOUNCES THE NEW PRODUCT TECHNOLOGY THEATER: GRAND HALL TO DEBUT ITS ETERNAL CONDENSING HYBRID WATER HEATER

Available to all AHR tradeshow attendees

DALLAS (January 2010) – Grand Hall plans to reveal its newest generation of hybrid water heaters, the revolutionary Eternal Condensing Hybrid, at the renowned 2010 AHR Expo in Orlando, Fla. The Grand Hall team is also slated to present the new Eternal Condensing Hybrid on Wednesday, January 27th at 12:30 p.m. in the New Product Technology Theater, Theater B. Open to the public, Grand Hall will educate visitors about this 98 percent efficient water heating product.

Hosted at the Orange County Convention Center, the three-day show expects to bring in over 25,000 visitors, including the most well respected professionals in the HVAC&R industry.

“The Grand Hall team is ecstatic about the opportunity to share with industry leaders all the Eternal Condensing Hybrid has to offer,” said Paul Home, Director of Product and Marketing for Grand Hall. “We cannot wait to showcase the Eternal Condensing Hybrid as the premier water heater in terms of Energy Star requirements, tax qualification, and LEED credits.”

The Eternal Condensing Hybrid – embodies the 3C principle of Clean, Clever and Confident - improving the technological advancements of the original hybrid water heater but now in a smaller, more efficient and every bit just as powerful unit. Presentation attendees should anticipate an informative rundown of the numerous, innovative product attributes of the new Eternal.
