

Eternal is preferred by Plumbing Professional in his own home

1 GU26 - Eternal Hybrid

I've installed a number of Eternal hybrid water heaters over the past year, so when it came to choosing a replacement for our old tank heater in my own house there really was no choice: For me it had to be an Eternal. Another tank wouldn't do, as the capacity of the old one just wasn't sufficient to meet our demands, with both baths often running at the same time. Also because of Eternal's low emissions, gas consumption is lower. Traditional tank-less are OK, but they do have the problem of pressure drop, which the Eternal doesn't, and they require custom venting, whereas Eternal vents with standard PVC pipe.

When I'm not plumbing you'll find me assembling complex Lego sets: I'm a real Lego freak (all men need a hobby!) and I can assure you that installing my Eternal was a lot easier and faster than building my Lego Star Wars space station!
